Overview

Our diverse client base comprises U.S. and foreign companies, and individuals who do business around the world. They come to us for our experienced legal teams, who have a deep understanding of the global landscape and who are able to craft tailored solutions for the challenges of doing business abroad.

We represent clients from Latin America, the Caribbean, Asia, and Europe with a U.S. “footprint,” as well as domestic and foreign clients doing business in those foreign jurisdictions. Our clients operate in varied industries including real estate investment and development, aviation, biotechnology, commercial lending, construction, energy, financial services (including fintech), information technology, infrastructure, insurance and reinsurance, manufacturing, pharmaceuticals, sports, and telecommunications.

Our comprehensive transactional and litigation services help clients navigate the full range of issues they face, including those related to choice of entity formation, immigration, domestic and foreign regulatory compliance, complex tax structuring, cross-border M&A, distribution of goods and services, and cross-border financing. We have seen the obstacles clients face when doing business globally, and we act as trusted counselors, helping clients understand and address the challenges that confront them as they attempt to achieve their international goals.
