

Court Divide Deepens For Insurer's Labor Cost Battles

October 08, 2021

Carlton Fields insurance attorney Heidi Hudson Raschke was quoted in a Law360 article discussing a divide in several state courts on the issue of automatically depreciating labor costs when calculating the actual cash value amount due to a policyholder for a loss. "The importance of the issue goes to the concept of indemnity," said Raschke. Read the article.
