

2024 Class Action Survey Referenced in Newsweek: “Gen Z ‘Most Likely’ Risk of Workplace Lawsuits: Survey”

May 08, 2024

Carlton Fields’ 2024 Class Action Survey was referenced in a Newsweek article titled “Gen Z ‘Most Likely’ Risk of Workplace Lawsuits: Survey.” Workplace lawsuits have been increasing in recent years, and some employers think Generation Z is to blame. The article kicks off with a reference to a 2024 Carlton Fields Class Action Survey finding that labor-related class action lawsuits against employers have grown from 25.6% in 2021 to 43.4% in 2023. Read the article. Subscription may be required.

Featuring

D. Matthew Allen

John E. Clabby

Related Practices

Class Actions

