

Carlton Fields' Amanda Brahm Featured in Saint Anselm College Honors Program Video

November 18, 2020

Carlton Fields labor and employment attorney Amanda Brahm was featured in a Saint Anselm College Honors Program video highlighting how the profession and her practice have changed throughout the coronavirus pandemic. Brahm explains how the pandemic has made the legal industry more efficient, stating that it is now easier to maximize time with technology. She also applauds how her education clients have remained resilient and resourceful while navigating new challenges, employing online learning, self-COVID screening, contact tracing, and additional technologies.
